Zero Waste, More to Love

We’re committed to Zero Waste manufacturing. In 2019 alone, we increased our recycling by 195% and recycled over 72,000 pounds of glaze waste.

In addition, all ceramic Tile colors are now applied to our Recycled Tile Body. It’s how we meet the environmental standards you and your clients expect while executing your vision with excellence.

A History of Innovation

We’re scavengers at heart and scrappy when it comes to saving resources. Over the last 30 years we’ve accomplished many feats of innovation, some of which are still in production today. Here are a few of our most memorable milestones.

1988
Fireclay Tile becomes the first tile company to introduce 100% lead-free glazes into their product line.

1999
New raw materials are sourced. Granite dust and glass dust from post-consumer bottles are used in 50% of raw materials in Fireclay Tile’s first recycled body, the Debris Series.

2010
Partnership with McNear Brick & Block in San Rafael, CA, allows for the introduction of glazed thin Brick, made of 100% reclaimed earth.
Fireclay Tile acquires Sandhill Industries of Boise, Idaho to secure resources for its recycled Glass tile made in the USA. Fireclay Tile moves its production operations to Northern California.

2011
Addition of post-consumer porcelain from Northern California water conservation initiatives increases post-consumer content to over 70%.

2012
Fireclay Tile partners with CalRecycle to develop a process to use Solyndra glass tubes as a raw material for Glass tile.

2013
Fireclay Tile becomes the only company to recycle panel glass from CRT, the first 1/2” section of optical glass used in older computer monitors and TV sets.

2020
Introducing 25 new colors, Fireclay transitions all ceramic Tile to its Recycled Tile Body. This move advances its efforts toward Zero Waste manufacturing.
